

YOUR LOVE STARS

BY Patsy Bennett www.astrocast.com.au

ARIES

You'll enjoy an upbeat, sociable year and will have time to focus on love more than you have for some time. This year you'll improve your personal life whether you've been considering committing more deeply to someone; changing direction in your personal life or if you realise in fact that your existing romantic commitment has run its course. The eclipse on January 11 could already put a fresh perspective on your priorities in the first quarter of the year; and singles could meet someone alluring in January. Further peak times for romance will be August to October and December.

TAURUS

2020 has two moods: during the first half of the year security, love and companionship will be a signature mood; and during the second, adventure and a wish for fun and exciting times in your love life. Developments early in January will give you the heads-up about your love life for the rest of the year as you realise the key to love is good communication skills. The Scorpio Full Moon on May 7 could be a major turning point in your love life as singles may meet someone passionate; and couples could ramp up romance for some time to come.

GEMINI

2020 is the year of love for Twins, so singles, if you're looking for romance, aim to embrace new ways to meet someone compatible and couples: plan for a special treat. In May, key developments such as a trip or news will contribute to a fresh understanding of someone. If your relationship has been at breaking point, this year could see a parting of ways unless you find ways to improve your relationship skills. April to early August and December will be the key months for romance; you'll feel playful and flirtatious. Some Twins may even experience a reunion with an ex.

CANCER

Your love life will be enjoyable but will also be intense in 2020. The conjunction of Saturn and Pluto at the January 11 eclipse will give you the heads-up about the kinds of developments to come in 2020, especially during the final quarter. July-born Cancerians may see the deepest change in your love life, but all Cancerians will feel restless. You must avoid impulsiveness, especially mid-year. Be open to change but plan carefully once you have made a decision. Certain connections will be hard to ignore; some difficult to move on from; and some you will wish to remain forever!

LEO

You'll infuse your love life with the same kind of passion you infuse into your work and interests. In 2020, your beliefs and values will figure strongly in your partnerships, and you will place true merit on strong principles and morals in your partner. You take loyalty seriously and are unlikely to waiver. Romance will be strong during the last quarter of the year although mid-August Leos will see considerable change in your love life already in January. Are you ready to commit to a new circumstance? If so, you must research ideas and, where love is concerned, follow your heart.

VIRGO

It's all change in your personal life and, for many Virgos, the scene of most change will be at home. Parents may find children's circumstances change and this will have a knock-on effect in your love life - and in a positive way! Plan to infuse your love life with more romance, fun and exciting times. Otherwise, the many developments going on elsewhere in your life could mean you ignore your love life. You may need to look after someone who takes up much of your time so remember to look after your own health as this will certainly boost romance.

LIBRA

Domestic developments will grab much of your focus and mid-year, a sense of freedom, independence and variety will point to better self-expression in your love life. Your need for more fun and romance will already kick-in around the supermoon on April 8 when a partnership will either step to a deeper level of commitment or, if it has been under stress recently, could reach breaking point. To avoid snap decisions, navigate carefully around this supermoon, as you will otherwise regret hasty decisions. If developments at home remain uncertain, rest assured you will find more clarity in the last quarter of 2020.

SCORPIO

You have spent a lot of energy on other people recently, and 2020 will turn the spotlight back onto you. Your love life will change in line with your needs. You need freedom of expression and a soul revival, and these needs will guide you onto a new path in your love life. Your relationships may for these reasons reach a turning point. A fresh chapter will begin in May if not before, and another key turning point will be towards the end of the year, as the eclipses in November and December point to a fresh agreement with someone close.

SAGITTARIUS

Your love life will be a source of learning in 2020. Rest assured that your optimism and ability to be practical will lead you to make the right decisions, so don't be afraid to step outside your comfort zone. You may even re-set your priorities and values due to a reunion or nostalgia early in 2020. If you are single, love and commitment may become more important to you. Couples will enjoy infusing your partnership with more fun and purpose. Mid-year and December a sense of adventure and indulgence in favourite activities with someone you love will make your heart sing.

CAPRICORN

Bountiful Jupiter in your sign will contribute to a more jovial, fun-filled year. This will reflect in your love life. You may already be aware of a change in your love life. If not, the eclipse on January 11 will spotlight new developments. The focus on someone special will change, and this may be tied to finances, health or other practicalities. Developments at the Supermoon on March 10 will provide you with more clarity about the importance of nurturance, both of self and of others. Be ready to embrace the positive, both in self and others, especially mid-year and in December.

AQUARIUS

2020 is the year to let go of past habits and routines that no longer serve your higher purpose and self-development. This may include letting go of certain people in your personal life. Family commitments are life-long but if some personal commitments are destructive or do not support you, you will find the courage to let these go. The Leo Full Moon on February 9 will kick-start a more fun-filled phase, which you'll delight in. Mid-year, November and December are peak times for romance and love. Be prepared to replenish energy levels and your love life will follow suit.

PISCES

Love planet Venus will reignite your love life from mid-January until just before the supermoon on March 10, and provides a fab opportunity to breathe fresh air into relationships. Partners will take much of your focus during the first quarter of the year and, if you're single, you'll relish dating and summer love! Mid-year, all Fish will enjoy an upbeat, flirtatious and outgoing time, with more variety and new social circles in your life. Singles may even be prepared to make a commitment during this time, so keep an eye out for someone truly inspiring.
